Open spaces adjacent to workstations

Sidewalk makes the most of under-used in-between spaces adjacent to workstations that would otherwise go to waste. Using nesting tables and sofas, turn a large corner area into a relaxing spot to foster interaction between teams and make your people feel at home.

Sidewalk's environmental performance

During Sidewalk's development process we considered environmental impacts of our decisions at every stage of the product's lifecycle - from materials extraction, production, transportation, use and re-use, to end of life.

With Sidewalk we can provide a Product Environmental Profile (PEP): based on the ISO 14021, its purpose is to communicate precise, verifiable and accurate information on environmental aspects of Sidewalk during its life cycle (list of materials, materials' origin and certifications, percentage of recycled content, plants' certifications and manufacturing processes, packaging, products' recyclability).
